

“A country where a Man of God helps the Sovereign can never be lost” : the religious ideas and influences of the Empress Alexandra Feodorovna. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 3:4, 2002.

Cited in: Joseph T. Fuhrmann, Rasputin: a life for the Tsar [work-in-progress]

“A new and strange world of images and colours” : Nikolai Alexandrovich, Esper Ukhtomksii and the Asian Grand Tour of 1891-2. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 4:1 and issue 4:2, 2003.

The reign of the Empress: a re-evaluation of the wartime role of the Empress Feodorovna. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 4:2, 2003.

Cited in: Joseph T. Fuhrmann, Rasputin: a life for the Tsar [work-in-progress]

Researching the Romanov dynasty in the British Library. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 4:3, 2003.

Locked windows, locked minds: fictional portrayals of the last Romanovs. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 5:1, 2004.

Cited in: Wendy Slater, The many deaths of Nicholas II (Routledge, 2007)

History writ on water: Petersburg reflects her past at me. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 5:1, 2004.

“Russia owes a great deal to Mr Stead” : Tsarism’s unlikely champion and the international press. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 5:2, 2004.

“Dem Gedächtnis Karl August Lingners” : the Hesse family and Schloss Tarasp. Published in Royalty Digest, volume XIV issue 4, 2004

“Daring to emphasise his independence” : Konstantin Nikolaevich, the radical Grand Duke. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 6, 2005.

Cited in: Greg King and Penny Wilson, Gilded Prism (Eurohistory, 2006).

Palace, fortress, monarchy, nation: a brief history of Warsaw’s royal castle. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 6, 2005.

Private paradise, public park: the Lazienki estate in Warsaw. Published in Atlantis Magazine issue 6, 2005.

“Heralded by the golden domes of her churches: foreign visitors to imperial St Petersburg. Published in the European Royal History Journal, volume 8, issue 5, 2005

A soup of many styles: Maria da Gloria, Fernando II and the Paço de Pena. Published in the European Royal History Journal, volume 9, issue 2, 2006

“God in all things” : the religious outlook of Russia’s last Empress. Published in the Electronic British Library Journal, volume 4, 2006

Cited in: Joseph T. Fuhrmann, Rasputin: a life for the Tsar [work-in-progress] and Helen Rappaport, Ekaterinburg [London: Hutchinson, 2006]

[Greg King and Janet Ashton] “It was heavenly in the forest” : hunting in Poland with the two last Tsars. Published in Royalty Digest Quarterly, issue 2, 2006

Cited in: Joseph T. Fuhrmann, Rasputin: a life for the Tsar [work-in-progress]

The coronation of Tsar Alexander II: a translation from a book by Joachim Murat.

Published in the European Royal History Journal, volume 9, issue 4, and volume 9, issue 5, 2006

[Greg King and Janet Ashton] Political dramas and private traumas: the Romanovs in the palaces of the Warsaw region. Published in Royalty Digest Quarterly, issue 4, 2006

“A golden bridge between east and west” : Ernst Ludwig of Hesse and the 1903 Delhi Durbar. Published in Royalty Digest Quarterly, issue 1, 2007

“Grand Duchesses, Dr Frankenstein and the undead: Villa Diodati’s illustrious visitors.”

Published in the European Royal History Journal, volume 11, issue 2, 2008

Others to be added when publication scheduled.....